What is Glebe?

Glebe Church is an active church in the Driver area of Suffolk whose mission is not only to welcome all who seek God to worship and foster a supportive family atmosphere and outreach to the community, but to maintain the historical setting that has been left in our care. The glebes were the farm lands given to colonial churches by the King of England to support the church (except our Glebe Church) which moved to lands that were donated by Richard Bennett in 1676. The original church of 1643 was declared in ruinous condition. The existing church was built in 1737 and completed in 1738 on the new land donated in 1676. So when all Glebe lands were ordered to be sold in 1802, Glebe Church was the only known church to be able to keep their "glebe" because it was donated and then became known as Glebe Church. Among many historical notes surrounding Glebe, one being in March 1775, when the parish ousted the crown-appointed rector for loyalist preaching, a pivotal event leading to the start of the Revolutionary War. We have a lot of history to preserve at Glebe (pictured above in 1926). The building is still sporting the same roof that desperately needs to be replaced with a new slate roof in addition to many ongoing repairs, including the uncovering of shallow graves taken over by nature on the land. Recently uncovered was a cavalry union soldier's grave.

100% of the proceeds from this event will be used for the preservation of this historic church and grounds. We truly appreciate and thank you in advance for your support.
